We offer two intensive German courses for students who have fled Ukraine (also explicitly international students) in the summer semester 2022. We are currently planning to offer one course for beginners at Level A1 (GER) and another course for students with basic skills starting at Level A2 (GER).

The maximum number of students we are able to accept for each intensive course is 20 and they are delivered face-to-face with a total of 20 units per week in TU Dresden's Teaching Centre for Languages and Regional Studies (LSK – Haus der Sprachen), Zellescher Weg 22.

duration: 19.4. - 3.6. and 13.6. - 15.7.2022

two daily classes of 180 minutes + interactive tasks on the learning platform Moodle

Moreover, we provide additional learning activities for participants in the fields of culture, the city of Dresden and regional history.

target group: young refugees from Ukraine (18-35 years), preferably graduates with A-levels and students, also international students from Ukraine

The course is free of charge.

After students will have successfully completed one of the two courses in the summer semester 2022, those interested in continuing learning may be integrated in the preparatory German courses for refugee applicants for regular studies, which are offered by LSK, in the winter semester 2022/23.
